

W. J. BUTCHER

ROMFORD
LTD

W.J.Butcher (Romford) Ltd. is today recognised as one of the foremost building construction companies in the South-East - providing a range of specialist services to a diverse group of clients from small individual customers to major multi-nationals.

A recognition which stems from the telling combination of traditional craft skills allied to state-of-the-art technology through more than seventy-five years of successful trading and business development.

Evolving from a merger between W.J.Butcher (Romford) Ltd. and ROM Joinery, the company now has three core activities - Construction, new build, refurbishment and alterations - Maintenance and commercial building maintenance - Joinery, specialist design and manufacture of quality bespoke joinery.

The company demands the highest standards from its dedicated workforce and it is these standards which are reflected in the quality of its workmanship. It is proud of the many employees who have developed into master craftsmen having started their working lives with W.J.Butcher (Romford) Ltd. as company apprentices.

The highest standards of workmanship and meticulous attention to detail, combined with efficient and competitive performance, remain the cornerstone of the company's success and the driving force for future progress and development.
